"POLICING" OF
FEDERAL FUNDSSuggests Congress Create

CALLED INSANEAddresses Ohio C. of C.
Before Leaving On
Western Tour(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Nov. 17.—Robert A. Taft, Ohio's presidential-minded Republican senator, looked forward today to another western speaking tour after proposing that congress create a budget committee to police federal expenditures.

The real threat to the nation's welfare is still produced by domestic policies," Taft said last night in an address before the Ohio Chamber of Commerce's 46th annual convention.

He occupied the speakers' table with Gov. John W. Bricker, Sen. Edward R. Burke (O-Neb.), Cleveland's mayor Harold H. Burton and a myriad of Ohio business leaders.

An "Insane Policy"
Declaring "the fiscal policy of the federal government today is an insane policy," Taft said "I believe that a budget committee should be created to re-write the so-called budget presented by the President." He accused Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau of attempting to pass the buck to congress on the "insane" policies.

"It is no easy task," he said. "It is not merely a limitation of appropriations. It requires a change in the relief policy; a change in the social security policy. It requires a critical examination of the proposed increase of army and navy."

"Congress has never had a budget committee. While I believe the attempt should be made to create one, its work will be wholly ineffective unless it is followed by a majority of congress. It cannot secure that cooperation today without the assistance of the president of the United States."

Doubts WPA Reduction
Taft doubted "if the WPA appropriation can be much further reduced unless an affirmative program changing the whole method of administering relief is adopted by returning administration to the states with a federal grant," and doubted "if farm appropriations can be reduced without a complete change in farm policies."

He held "many other expenditures can only be stopped after congress, with approval of the president, because they can pass nothing over his opposition and his veto abolishes or drastically cuts various activities which the federal government has recently assumed."

Ohio's junior senator reiterated belief the United States could stay out of the European war; said recent defeat of far-reaching pension plans in Ohio and California showed "the people know you can't get something for nothing;" and thought "a careful study will surely find places for our ships if the industry of the ship owners is used in that direction instead of looking for loopholes in the neutrality law."

Taft resumed Monday a western tour interrupted by the recent speech of congress.

Wants To See End of Relief
Bricker told the chamber "I want to live to see the end of the necessity of expanding relief as we see it at this time." He said nothing

CHURCH RITES
TO END SUNDAY

Pastors Urge Large Attendance As 7-Weeks' Program Ends

The Back-to-Church movement will close Sunday morning with each church urging all members to be in attendance.

It is estimated that a total of more than 5,000 people will crowd the various churches and Sunday schools. This will also mark the conclusion of the attendance contest among the Sunday schools. It has been in progress during the past seven weeks.

The service last night was held in the Presbyterian church with Rev. S. Talmage Magann preaching the sermon on the subject, "The Church Universal." More than 300 people attended. An anthem was presented by the choir under the direction of W. Wentz Alspaugh. The invocation was given by Rev. George D. Keister.

The service tonight will be held in the Trinity Lutheran church at 7:30. The subject of the sermon will be, "The Forgiveness of Sins." There will be no service Saturday night. The concluding service of Sunday night at 7:30 in the Methodist church. The subject will be, "The Life Everlasting." Special music will be presented by the Methodist choir under the direction of Homer S. Taylor.

The next union effort among the churches will be the presentation of the outstanding musical composition, "The Messiah," by George Frederick Handel. A choir of more than 50 voices from the different churches has been working on the oratorio for two months. It will be sung Sunday evening, Dec. 24, in the Presbyterian church under the direction of W. Wentz Alspaugh. It will be open to the public.

Handel, a native of Germany, early showed signs of musical skill. His father was a barber-surgeon, who disapproved of music and wished his son to become a lawyer. Much of his music was composed in England. His energy was enormous, the complete edition of his works filling 100 volumes. "The Messiah" was produced at Dublin on April 13, 1742. Handel is buried in Westminster Abbey.

First and second degrees will be conferred upon 11 new members at the Dec. 6 meeting.

Sell Scrap Iron

LISBON, Nov. 17.—The county commissioners today had sold 33-1/2 tons of scrap iron consisting of the girders and beams of the old Levee bridge on the New Waterford-East Palestine road, to Harry Prizant, Columbus dealer in scrap metal, on his bid of $13 per ton.

A check in the amount of $214.80 has been received for the scrap iron, and the same placed in the road and bridge fund of the county.

The old bridge over the Pennsylvania railroad tracks has been replaced with a new structure.

Schools Blamed By Babson
For Nation's Unemployment

(By Associated Press)

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—Asserting that high school students "know more about cheers than chores," Roger Babson, university specialist, charged today that the school system in the United States was "primarily responsible for at least 7,000,000 of the 10,000,000 unemployed" in the nation.

Business men, he declared in a prepared address before the New England Association of School Superintendents, "are forced to cease to employ the young men and women emerging from a broken-down organization which has been depopulated by political raiders."

Babson listed 10 factors which he said contributed to unemployment, but added that "the big reason is that young people are being graduated from our schools today as goods are being sold by department stores. Politically minded school committees are giving these children—not what untrained children need—but what misled parents think they want them to have."

"I insist that the growth of our country, which was so marked previous to 1930, was largely the result of the school system preceding 1915. Contrarywise, that the poor stock which has graduated since 1930 has largely been due to the decline—since 1915—in character of school committees."

Maintaining that as teachers' salaries went up teaching posts became better political plums, the spade-bearded economist contended that school boards had become "political footballs."

Relief for October
Drops About $130,000

October relief expenditures of $2,276,975, about $130,000 less than the previous month, were reported by the State Welfare Director, Charles Sherwood, today in allocating $750,000, or 32.9 per cent of the total, as the state's share.

Sherwood predicted a greater percentage of state participation for November, due to forecasts of increased industrial activity, and the fact that the state allocation will be boosted to $1,000,000.

Allocated today to Columbiana county was $3,888; Mahoning county, $21,905 and Stark county, $8,583. Of the city relief units, Salem received $295; East Liverpool, $1,699; East Palestine, $359; Wells-ville, $741; Alliance, $2,754.

Charles H. Elliott, Youngstown, Succumbs In Buffalo Hotel

(By Associated Press)
YOUNGSTOWN, Nov. 17.—A long career in the steel industry ended yesterday with the death of Charles H. Elliott, 61, of Youngstown, assistant vice president of Republic Steel Corp. in charge of operations.

Several hours after his arrival in Buffalo, N. Y., on a business trip, he was found dead in his hotel room. Medical Examiner Paul J. Rutecki attributed death to a heart attack.

Elliott had been in charge of operations of Republic's far-flung plants since 1937, when he was appointed vice president. Previously he had served as manager of the Youngstown-Warren, O., district of Republic for two years.

Early in his career he became assistant superintendent of blast furnaces and steel plant at Youngstown Steel &amp; Tube Co. In 1919 he was made manager of the steel works of Weirton Steel Co., and five years later was general superintendent of a Jones &amp; Laughlin Steel Corp. plant, at Pittsburgh.

He returned to Ohio in 1926 as vice president in charge of operations at Trumbull Steel Co. of Warren, O., which later merged with Republic. After his appointment as vice president of Republic, he retained his residence in Youngstown, spending several days a week at Cleveland offices.

Born Feb. 4, 1878, at Wilmington, O., he studied at Wooster college and Purdue university, receiving his Bachelor of Science degree from the latter institution.

Surviving him are his widow, the former Alice Dickerson; a son, Sam W., an employee of Republic's Gadsden, Ala., plant; and three daughters, Mrs. James Roy of Boston, Mass., Dr. Alice Elliott and Miss Jeannette Elliott, both of Youngstown.

Funeral services will be held at Youngstown, but the time has not been determined.

He was graduated from Mount Union college in 1905, when he received his P. L. B. degree. He was given the degree of D. D. by Drew Theological seminary and his higher degree from Yale university.

Rev. Lawson had held pastorates at Winona, North Lawrence, Marshfield in Ohio, and at Long Island and in Connecticut in the eastern conference until three years ago when the heart ailment, which caused his death, forced him to retire.

While in Ohio, he was married to Reba Elizabeth Jenkins of Winona. His wife of Ocean Grove, N. J., a son, John, of Forest Hills, Long Island and two sisters, Gertrude and Maud Lawson of Ironside, survive.

Banks Find Small
Loans Profitable

COLUMBUS, Nov. 17.—Ohio bankers in the small installment loan field, opened to them by statute in 1935, are finding the venture profitable.

More than 250 bankers in the field reported 118,000 loans totaling $27,900,000 outstanding today.

Interest rates on such loans are five to six per cent and losses have been less than one per cent, declared Belford P. Atkinson, assistant secretary of the Ohio Bankers association.

The figures were reported at the first state gathering of bankers to discuss credit practices in the new field.

Nazis Have Failed, Up to Now, to Open Direct Campaign

LONDON, Nov. 17.—High British military authorities expressed "conviction" today that what they called Germany's "indecisive tactics" on the western front were the result of disagreement between Adolf Hitler and his general staff.

These authorities did not disclose what information they had to support this view but said they considered it bolstered because Germany had not organized direct, hard blows against Britain and France which, they said, was the usual German plan.

There were hints also of sharp retaliation against any bombardment of British cities.

Law Is Pointed Out
Asked what British policy would be toward any bombing of open cities or any use of gas, one source referred questioners to international law and to provisions for retaliation where the law is violated.

The war office announced that 20,000 men were needed for home defense battalions of the British army.

The announcement was made as recruiting opened to double the strength of the women's auxiliary territorial service.

Germany's first stroke against British shipping in the Indian ocean started naval experts guessing where the Nazi pocket battleships are roving.

Admiral Scheer Blamed
Sources here advanced the possibility the 10,000-ton German pocket battleship Admiral Scheer sank the 706-ton British tanker Africa Shell Wednesday off the coast of Mozambique, Portuguese East Africa.

A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Capetown, South Africa, however, said such a theory was discounted by authorities there. The Reuters report said the tanker was sent to the bottom in Portuguese territorial waters, and that some sources suggested the attacker might have been an armed merchantman of about 10,000 tons.

Petty Thievery
Cases Continuing,
Police Are Told

The wave of petty thievery and breaking and entering cases in the city is apparently continuing.

Thieves visited two places in the Penn State building yesterday, police disclosed.

At the I. O. O. F. lodge rooms on the third floor, the intruders ransacked desk drawers and a cupboard. The desk locks were forced open and $3 was believed taken. Robert W. Rheun, warden of the lodge, told police.

At noon yesterday burglars failed in an attempt to get into the office of the Prudential Insurance Co. on the second floor. While employees were at lunch, the would-be burglars tried to break the lock and door knob with a pipe or wrench. Patrolman Nerr Gaunt witnessed.

W. F. McKee, manager, found the office broken into several months ago when yeggs failed to blow open a safe.

A boy, attempting to force open the door of Ralph Zimmerman's newsstand at 749 E. State st. at 2:30 a. m. today, was frightened away by a truck driver delivering morning papers, police were informed. The youth fled from the truck driver who chased him for a short distance.

Daniel Shaffer of Alliance had a spare tire and wheel stolen from his automobile parked on Newgarden ave. last night.

SLOW LIGHTNING

It has become one of the keener conjectures of existence in these unusual times that the actual losing of the dogs of war in Europe—the "blitzkrieg"—has been anticipated too long to be effectual when it finally happens. This assumes that sooner or later Adolf Hitler will try to shoot his way out of the trap into which his miscalculations have thrust him.

This possibility is discussed in communications from abroad telling about Londoners and Parisians becoming accustomed to ways of life that would have seemed intolerable as recently as last August. It is seen also between descriptive lines about the strain of waiting for something that doesn't happen. Any change would be a change for the better.

Presumably, the same feeling exists among the hundreds of thousands of soldiers in the Maginot line. They must have reached an emotional state 76 days after the war's beginning when almost anything would be better than waiting. Nor is it unlikely that this "war of nerves" is having effect also in the population of the Siegfried line and of Germany itself.

If so, it is important. From everything known and guessed about "lightning war," it may be deduced that much of its theoretical value is demoralization of an opponent attacked viciously from many directions without warning. Take away surprise and "blitzkrieg" becomes nothing more than fury. Adolf Hitler has waited too long to take anybody by surprise.

MANDATE IN TOLEDO

Toledo, one of the cities that voted down proposals for school levies last election day, is about to begin a sad experience. Its board of education has chosen to interpret rejection of the levy as a mandate to close the schools for the rest of 1939.

Additional funds will be available in 1940, and schools then will reopen. In all probability, they'll open before the end of 1939. Unless Toledoans are different from other Americans the last thing they intended to do was to close schools.

A lot of them voted No on the levy proposal because they didn't think it was necessary to vote Yes to keep the schools open. They voted No because that's what voters do on all tax proposals they don't understand. It's an American custom—and a good one.

Somehow or other, Toledo didn't do a good job of selling its school levy to voters. Perhaps it's all right to construe failure as a mandate to close the schools, but voters won't stand for it. They didn't know the thing was loaded.

OPERATION A SUCCESS

It's a national health note of some importance that the appendix of the second session of the 76th congress is now out, enabling congressmen to talk freely about their operations. There's a lot to tell—130 pages, which doesn't include a lot of little appendices that came out from day to day before the second session broke up.

At a glance, the appendix issue of The Congressional Record doesn't seem tremendously important. It's just a lot of speeches, some of them never made, about almost everything under the sun. But on second thought, that's tremendously important. Blowing off steam and relieving pressure is as important as anything that goes on in the United States.

Only a government trying to do something unnatural to human nature would fail to understand that people with something to say need to say it even if it's not worth saying. It's the only way they can get relief for what ails 'em, and even at government expense it's worth it.

ACCIDENT IN VENEZUELA

Death of hundreds of natives in a Venezuela oil town swept by fire can't compare with the horror in store for millions of Europeans, yet constitutes one of the major disasters of 1939 and will be recorded that way in the annals.

It's a reminder that Europe's war, like the older war raging in China, rapidly is becoming a familiar part of the world scene, like the death of more than 30,000 persons a year from traffic in the United States.

Americans, oblivious of hundreds being killed in Europe, wonder when the war is going to start, yet are able to express concern over an accident in another part of the world that destroys a few hundred lives and probably never will be repeated.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, November 18.

Rather adverse conditions prevail on this day, according to the auguries of the ruling planetary aspects. There may be sudden and disagreeable upsets, with friction, inharmonious quarrels with superiors, strangers or others of erratic temperament. Generally restive, unsettled and turbulent conditions are indicated, and these may be best side-stepped by close attention to rigid details of business, employment or hard work, which hold promise of recognition and suitable reward. Patience and perseverance win the day.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year of sudden upheavals or turbulence, coming with whirlwind velocity and ending in quite unforeseen and possibly disagreeable denouements. Avoid disputes, friction with superiors, employers and strangers, and shun all manner of eccentric or revolutionary indulgences. Patience, hard work, close application may help in mitigating adverse and regrettable circumstances. Let prudence and restraint hold sway, with the intuitions a guiding factor.

A child born on this day may be studious, industrious and earnest despite erratic, restless and ill-tempered moods or outbursts. It may be fond of sudden moves, change and adventure.

WHAT'S GOING TO HAPPEN?

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The view expressed by high British military authorities in London today that Germany's "indecisive tactics" against the Anglo-French Allies are due to disagreement between Herr Hitler and his army command gives a highly interested, if inconclusive, answer to a burning question.

If I've heard it once, it has cropped up scores of times in the past two or three days—What does the enigmatic Hitler really intend to do in the way of making war on the Allies?

Since it's a rather personal affair, it is only right to let the Germans give their own answer. Here is one from an authoritative source in Berlin, neither confirming nor disproving the English claim:

"We have no fear of attacking, but intend to let military judgment choose the time and not be goaded into it by foreign propaganda."

That's the most illuminating word we've had on the subject from Nazidom.

It means either (1) that the German high command hasn't decided what is feasible for it to attempt, or (2) that it is stymied at present from carrying out such strategy as it would like to employ.

Otherwise we should have action, for time is fighting on the side of the Allies.

This situation shouldn't mistakenly be taken as indicating that the Nazi high command is confused. The directing force of one of the greatest fighting machines the world has known doesn't get confused.

It can, however, come up against a stone wall, and that apparently is what has happened, at least temporarily. It's exactly the spot the Allies would be in as regards the making of an offensive if they were deprived of their blockade.

As a matter of fact, a few weeks ago when the world was demanding why the Allies didn't take a crack at the German westwall or bomb enemy territory, they made almost the identical answer which the Germans have given.

British Premier Chamberlain on September 20 declared in the house of commons that "what we will not do is to rush into adventures that offer little prospect of success."

We mustn't forget that this is a war of brand-new conditions. The land defenses of both sides are so nearly impregnable that to attack either of them would be like beating one's head against a rock.

There are vast new air-fleets, with ships faster and more powerful than ever before went into major war. But since they are largely untried in action we don't know whether an armada virtually could erase a country overnight, or whether a massed attack might fizzle out like a wet fuse.

And there's another thing which we must remember. Because of these new conditions there is no limit to the extent of the disaster which might follow an error in judgment on the part of a high command.

Problem Of Insomnia Discussed By Clendenning

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D. far more than it worries the doctor. Very few doctors are willing to take the time to treat insomnia scientifically. It is, of course, easy to prescribe sleeping powders, but in the case of chronic insomnia this is distinctly an example of malpractice.

The real treatment of insomnia is psychological or nutritional. A long study of the condition has brought Dr. Louis J. Karnosh, of Cleveland, to certain conclusions.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

First, he does not believe that there is any standard sleep pattern. Different people have different sleep patterns, and the same person has different sleep patterns at different times in his life. Most adults sleep from six to eight hours. Older people tend to retire earlier and get up earlier.

Emotional Upsets Sleep is more likely to be disturbed by emotional experiences than it is by such things as loss of appetite, or a meal before going to bed, and many other such things that are always blamed.

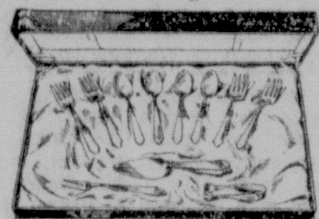

The person with insomnia often believes that persistent loss of sleep is a calamitous disturbance, a foreboding of death or insanity, but there is no good evidence that insomnia saps the vitality or health. There is not a single piece of evidence that insomnia ever caused death.

Gillette, a neurologist of wide experience, stated that he had never seen a patient whose mental disorder could be attributed to insomnia.

Most people who complain of insomnia sleep more than they think they do. Their real suffering consists in anticipation of the period which has been called my Ladame, the "temps latent," which is the period between retiring and actually going to sleep.

The muscles at this time gradually relax and, with the eyes closed, various imaginal experiences intrude into consciousness. They consist of a panorama of loosely connected ideas, and there seems to be no ability to hold one particular phasm and reject the others. Such loose linkage of ideas and free association is regarded by psychologists as an overture to sleep, but the person with insomnia dreads this phase of his sleep troubles. He attains the portals of sleep but seems to have trouble getting any further.

Girl, 22, Combines Duties of Mother, Wife and Doctor

(By International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—Sara H. Maiden is a wife, mother and qualified M. D. at the early age of 22.

Now serving an internship at the Philadelphia Women's college, Dr. Maiden said there is no reason why her career should interfere with bringing up her two sons, aged five and three.

"Right now, of course, things are a little difficult," she admitted, "but when I start to practice medicine next year, it will be easy to manage my children with one hand and my medical instruments with the other."

Her husband, Don R. Maiden, concurs on this point. He thinks the undertaking "fine." When his wife decided to intern here, Maiden had himself transferred from his firm's Florida office.

Idea On Childre n

The attractive mother—doctor, who steers clear of "child rearing theories," added that children will grow up by themselves providing they are healthy and have lots of exercise.

Born in Chester, Pa., Dr. Maiden moved to Florida with her family. She graduated from high school at 15, was married one year later, and both her children were born

Theatre Attractions

An engaging comedy, presenting a bright new screen personality, Gloria Jean, is "The Under-pup", which shows tonight and Saturday at the State theatre.

Robert Cummings and Nan Grey have the leading romantic roles in the young singer's picture. They played together in Deanna Durbin's last film and are seen again with Gloria Jean, who is being hailed as Deanna Durbin's equal in talent, personality and voice.

Beulah Bondi, Virginia Weidler, Margaret Lindsay, C. Aubrey Smith, Billy Gilbert and Ann Gillis have supporting roles in the delightfully entertaining tale of a tenement youngster who wins a trip to an exclusive girls' camp, where she proceeds to show them which side of the tracks produce the best material, and incidentally gets herself involved in a divorce suit, a love match, and a swarming race.

Not spectacular material, the story is turned into good entertainment by the excellent performance of the young star and the work of her supporting cast.

Showing tonight and Saturday at the Grand is Willem Boyd in "Law of the Pampas"

Naval Dirigible On Program for '40

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—A new naval dirigible may be built next year as a part of the national defense program.

Congress, which refused during its last regular session to appropriate $300,000 to begin construction of a small ship, will be asked at the January session to authorize one or two lighter-than-air craft.

This was disclosed by Acting Secretary Edison during discussion of the navy's expansion program at a press conference.

He said Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the house naval affairs committee had included provision for new blimps in a $1,300,000,000 expansion bill.

NAZIS SCOFF AT MEDIATION PLEA

Any General Offer From U. S. Now Would Be "Uninteresting"

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN, Nov. 17. — Authorized sources said today any general mediation offer by President Roosevelt at this time would be "uninteresting" so far as Germany is concerned.

France's injection of Austrian restitution into the issues at stake in the European conflict, these sources declared, shows conclusively the Allies regard all peace talks as futile.

However, should President Roosevelt ask both sides to disclose war aims to him with a view to finding some common basis for mediation, Germany would be most likely to respond, these sources intimated.

German guns will speak in an unmistakable manner in ensuing weeks, it was hinted.

The western front was quiet today, however. A communique from the army high command said: "In the west, with minor local artillery annoyance fire, no noteworthy fighting activity."

An inspired announcement of yesterday that Germany "must liberate Europe from the unbearable yoke of British rule of might" was seen as foreshadowing offensive rather than defensive war. It was the most specific statement of German war aims in several weeks.

The declaration against the "British rule of might" was the about a special legislature session on relief, advocated without success recently by Cleveland and Toledo officials, other than to answer a remark by Burton.

Burton, referring to Cleveland's relief woes, said "We feel we are definitely a part of the State of Ohio, although every now and then we have to argue about it."

Replied Bricker: "I want to say you have no argument with me that Cleveland is a part of the State of Ohio."

Burke renewed his frequent attacks on the National Labor Relations Act, which he termed unfair as it now stands.

The chamber, opening its two-day session yesterday, elected 20 directors. Those named to three-year terms included B. B. Williams of Mt. Vernon. Those elected to two-year terms included John W. Graham, of Mansfield, and C. E. Torrey, of Canton. Also adopted were more than a score of resolutions.

January CCC Lists Opened In County

LISBON, Nov. 17.—H. A. Moore, Columbiana county selecting agent for the Civilian Conservation Corps, today announced applications will be accepted from this date for the January CCC enrollment. Applicants must be between 17 and 23 years of age inclusive, and should contact Moore's office in the court house bringing with them proof of age, either by birth certificate or statement of school authorities. They should also have a social security account.

Figures just released on the last quarterly enrollment which ended in October, reveal that 4,785 Ohio boys were enrolled during that period, and that 76 were Columbiana county boys, Moore stated. Of the total, 72 per cent were never employed; 24 per cent had an elementary school education; 20 per cent had one year of high school; 15 per cent were high school graduates, and 0.293 per cent were college graduates.

Approximately one-third, or 33 per cent of the boys enrolled, came from rural areas, with the majority coming from families averaging four persons, and 16 per cent from homes where the head of the family was employed on WPA.

Thirty-five per cent of the boys enrolled came from families not receiving any type of relief, while the balance represent homes receiving some form of relief. It was also stated that 85 per cent of the youths send their allowance home to the parents, while approximately 5 per cent, who have no dependents, are permitted to deposit their money with the finance officer of the corps during their term of enlistment.

PROFIT MOTIVE O.K., SAYS BIBLE

Or At Least That's Interpretation of Sociologist

(By Associated Press)
EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 17.—A sociologist who is completing a new translation of the gospels based upon 30 years' investigation said today he was convinced that Christ championed the profit motive and esteemed the business man as a public benefactor.

Dr. William L. Bailey of Northwestern university, believed by scholars to be the first sociologist to undertake such a project, explained that his conclusions in large part grew out of unusual interpretations of two of the most widely quoted scriptural passages.

The first, he cited, related to the parable of the rich young ruler, as told by Mark.

The proverbially other-worldly and ascetic episode of the rich young ruler, Dr. Bailey said, "is actually the story of a hustling, successful young executive who asks Jesus if he is doing all that he can with his life."

The actual meaning of the passage usually translated as, "sell all you have and give to the poor," is: "Get going. Get into the market with your holdings, and by engaging in business activity, create a clear conscience."

The second passage was the conversation translated "you cannot serve God and Mammon," which as commonly read means that material things and spiritual values are incompatible.

As viewed by Dr. Bailey, the translation of "Mammon" is "prosperity" and the true meaning of the verse is "separate."

"Thus," he continued, "the actual meaning of the verse is: 'You cannot separate religious and secular values.' Jesus knew that one must live before one can live nobly. Jesus realized that business is basic to civilization and necessary to the development of cultural and spiritual values."

Analyze Six Heads In Fight On Rabies
LISBON, Nov. 17.—County Dog Warden Daniel Butch on Thursday sent the heads of two more animals, thought to be suffering from rabies, to Columbus for analysis, bringing to six the total since the first of November.

Reports on the first four, three of which were from the East Liverpool district and one from near Columbiana, came back positive and those who came in contact with the afflicted animals are now taking serum treatment. Word is now awaited on the last two specimens sent to Columbus, after both animals, a dog from near East Liverpool and a cat from Salineville, died after exhibiting rabid symptoms.

Tribe Hurler Must Boost His Alimony

EARNSTABLE, Mass., Nov. 17.—Johnny Broaca, Cleveland Indians' pitcher, today had court orders to increase his wife's alimony from $13 to $35 a week.

Judge Cullen C. Campbell denied the boost on the plea of Mrs. Broaca, mother of a two-year-old son, John, Jr., for $75 a week.

She said at the hearing that her husband earned $8,000 annually but that at times she went hungry and that their son lacked adequate clothing.

Broaca also was denied release from a $3,700 attachment the divorce placed on his funds.

Good, Legible Tag Might Be In Order

COLUMBUS, Nov. 17.—A series of misadventures caused Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood to suggest facetiously that for business trips he needed a sign reading: "Please see that I get home."

Starting badly, Sherwood missed a Cleveland train. Aboard a second, he couldn't find his ticket and paid cash.

Returning, he rushed aboard the wrong train and paid a cash fare to Sandusky, where he obtained auto transportation to Columbus. Arriving 30 minutes late for a conference with Gov. John W. Bricker, he proposed the sign.

Beel with difficulties of varied kind. Coach Carl Schroeder will lead his Quakers against a hard-fighting Youngstown South team at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at Reilly stadium in the next-to-last game of the present gridiron season.

The finale is scheduled with Alameda here next Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

However, the Thanksgiving game is something apart for the Red and Black coach who realizes, after Youngstown South took East Liverpool into camp by a 13-0 score a week ago, that Salem will have something on its hands.

South Not Heavy
The Youngstowners are not big—that is, in poundage. They have the tackle who will hit 186. The Youngstown South will bring its 60-piece school band to Reilly stadium for tomorrow afternoon's game between South and Salem gridiron warriors. Faculty Manager Fred Cope was notified today.

The Youngstown and the Quaker musicians will entertain fans between the halves. Another mid-game feature will be the introduction of the fathers of the Salem football squad, a highlight of the annual "Dad's day" observance.

Tonight, Coach Carl Schroeder and his staff, and the Salem football squad will be guests of the Walken brothers at the State theater.

est of the squad fails to break 1-4, with two 139-pounders on the firing line as regulars.

However, they are tall and rangy and, more or less, real opportunists. East Liverpool piled up nine first downs against them while South collected one, but South also collected two touchdowns and, in the meantime, proved they must be something more than a pushover when they held the Potters' beefy line thrusts.

Quarterback Cramb is the lad who is responsible for most of the damage from the South standpoint. He ruined East Liverpool's night, his accurate kicking on a rainy, rain-swept field keeping the Potters back on their haunches almost continually.

"Shakeup" Looms
A mild shakeup may be in order from the standpoint of the Quakers, it was indicated today, not for discipline but, rather, to determine whether this team can execute passes, more than anything else.

Buster Wukotich, who has been losing passes in the last few games, can really throw the leather, but, according to Coach Schroeder, the efficiency of the receiving end has been of an extremely questionable character. As a result, the passers have more or less lost confidence in this form of attack and usually, after a toss or two, fall back on the old running game.

Schroeder may give Cozad and Chappell a workout on the ends, with passes in view. Both are lighter than Shoe and Baillie and, possibly, not as strong defensively. They have a little edge on speed, though, and may get a chance to show it.

COACH ZUPPKE'S ILLINI ARRIVE FOR BIG GAME

Ohio State Is Favored In Tomorrow's Crucial Big Ten Fray

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Nov. 17.—Wilby Bob Zuppke, whose battling Illini upset Michigan two weeks ago for the year's most startling grid result, invades Ohio's capital today for Saturday's crucial Big Ten clash with the Bucks.

Ohio State, riding the Western conference crest with four wins in a row, is favored heavily on a comparative score basis, but the Bucks, remembering past upsets at Zuppke's hands, are taking nothing for granted.

The charges of Coach Francis Schmidt can clinch at least a share of the Western conference crown by beating Illinois, even should they lose next week's contest to Michigan.

Attendance Soars
Close to 50,000 fans are expected to witness the Buckeye homecoming game, with the attendance soaring above that figure should weather prevail. In 25 previous meetings with Illinois, Ohio State won 13, lost 11 and tied one.

The famed "Illibuck", trophy for which the two teams scrap, will go to the winner. The huge wooden trophy, shaped like a turtle, lost both front legs while on display at the New York World's Fair, but has been repaired.

Ohio's squad is in tip-top shape for the fray, bringing a doleful moan from the Buckeye trainer, Tucker Smith.

"Things have been going too well," Smith said today. "The weather has been fine, the boys haven't been getting hurt, and the practices have been grand. I'm afraid it can't last. I'm really afraid of this Illinois gang."

Zuppke and his boys are due in Columbus about 3:30 p. m. They will not remain in Columbus, but will go to nearby Magnetic Springs for a light workout and a night of rest from the sounds of the city and the revelry of homecoming crowds.

Buck Hold Edge
Comparative scores registered against common foes this year indicate the Bucks have a four-to-one touchdown edge on Illinois, but Ohio State supporters are expected to win such margin. Illinois lost 6-7 to Indiana, while the Bucks beat the Hoosiers 24 to 0. North-western handed Illinois a 13-0 setback, and the Bucks beat the Wildcats by the same score.

Ohio also has conference victories over Minnesota and Chicago, while Illinois beat Michigan and Wisconsin in league warfare.

Other games involving Ohio teams Saturday are:

Kent State at Baldwin Wallace, Mount Union at Wittenberg, Wooster at Denison, Marshall at Xavier, Miami at Dayton, Heidelberg at Detroit Tech, John Carroll at Western Reserve, Wilberforce at Lincoln University, Oberlin at University of Chicago, Ohio University at Michigan Western State Teachers, Muskingum at Georgetown, West Liberty State Teachers at Akron, South Dakota at Cincinnati, Westminster at Youngstown, Long Island U. at Toledo, and Bowling Green at Ypsilanti.

League Standings
INTERNAL and cerebral hemorrhages and a fractured vertebrae caused the eight deaths attributed directly to the game. Heart attacks, pneumonia and septicemia accounted for the four deaths for which the game was blamed indirectly.

Post-Season Games For Ohioans Banned

COLUMBUS, Nov. 17.—A rule of the Ohio High School Athletic association today discouraged Ohio teams from competing Christmas day in the "Scarlet Bowl" game at Miami, Fla., for the national scholastic football championship.

Commissioner H. R. Townsend said the rule prohibits contests after Dec. 2, and cited penalty for violation as a year's suspension from the association.

HARTFORD Conn.—Lou Ambers, 138½, Herkimer, N. Y., world lightweight champion, outpointed Jimmy Vaughn, 136, Cleveland (10).

IOWA TO FACE TOUGH GOPHERS ON SATURDAY

Minnesota Expected To Give Hawkeyes Good Battle

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—They may not think so out in the tall corn country but Iowa's high-flying football team tomorrow is going to run smack into one of the most improved elevens in the nation, Minnesota's Gophers.

Iowa, winner of five out of six games this fall, has every reason to be proud of its amazing gridiron renaissance, which is all the more remarkable because it's Dr. Eddie Anderson's first season in the Big Ten. But the Hawkeyes' most stunning victory of the year, last Saturday's 7-6 win over Notre Dame, won't help the Iowans a bit come kickoff time Saturday.

Michigan had a bitter taste of Minnesota's latent power as it exploded last Saturday at Ann Arbor. Observers who have watched the Gophers in several games this season reported that Minnesota, in the second half of the Michigan game, showed fully 60 per cent improvement over the team which previously had won only one of five starts.

International News Writer
NEW YORK — Unaffected by the blockade against Germany, 1939 toylands will show more than 100,000 varied playthings for the Christmas season. Manufacturers have completed $235,000,000 worth of dolls, games, bicycles, animals and games for their big season, a 10 per cent increase over last year.

Toy telephones that answer back, dolls with wasp waists and bustles, toy trains complete with a station announcer and a block signal system and a complete radio sound effects studio are on display today in New York's toy center in a setting that contrasts sharply with the toyland of 1914.

Half the top supply in 1914 was shut off by war blockades but in the last 10 years, less than 5 per cent of the toys sold in America have been imported.

New style trends, improvements and testing methods have been developed by the American industry and later copied by Germany and Japan, illustrating the advance the industry has made.

Reflect American Way
Toys reflect the trend of American thinking, manufacturers have found, and they draw their inspirations from local interests.

"Keying in with the intense desire of America to keep peace, the toylands of 1939 will place dominant emphasis on purposeful replicas of the American way of life," James L. Fri, managing director of the Toy Manufacturers of the U. S. A., said. "The yearning of all Americans for an improved standard of living is reflected in toy offerings which reproduce the finest types of housing, transportation, furniture, art and home-making equipment in low priced miniatures."

A toy kitchen sink with running water and a velocipede built for two are among the newest toys offered for the amusement of the children of America.

For the literary minded there's an authentic newspaper printing press and the scientific-minded youngster can have a chemical set that makes it possible to grow plants without soil. Others he can use to test the purity of the family food.

Painting without paints is a new scientific art in the toy field, the painting done with water. Beautiful colors emerge from chemically treated paper.

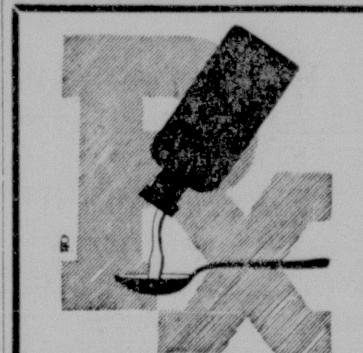

Sleds come equipped with red and green stop and go lights and for climates where snow is an occasion, there's sled-wagon combination with a wheel attachment for double duty.

Roadside diners, billboards, landscaped homes and ornamental flag plots are included in the 1939 scenery for train systems which include a station announcer who drowns a list of the main stops and shouts "All Aboard" in a realistic manner. Coal cars, box cars, tenders and cars that dump by remote control are popular additions to the model railroads.

Emphasize Defense
War toys have had an increase in popularity but the emphasis has been on national defense with the spotlight on airplanes, models of American soldiers, marines, West Pointers and gobs are the most popular in the soldier fields. Army trucks, coast defense guns and toy boats are numerous.

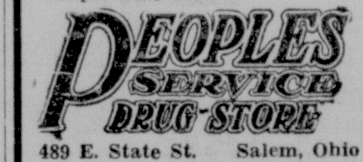

Rubber baby dolls can sleep sitting up or open their eyes laying down while the older dolls come with the wasp waisted silhouette, fur packets and bustles. Shoes are even open-toed. Their upturned curls and lavish costumes set an all time high in elegance.

There's also a building boom and back to the farm movement in toyland.

TAFT PLANNING WESTERN TRIP

Expects to Leave Cleveland This Week On 3,000-Mile Tour

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17.—Starting a new trip through the west, Senator Robert A. Taft will leave Cleveland late this week on a circuit of more than 3,000 miles.

With speaking engagements in the same rapid sequence which characterized his stumping tours through Ohio last year, Senator Taft went to the west coast during September and returned at the call of the special session of congress.

On the second trip, he will go to Denver, where his earlier appearance was cancelled, and will swing through Texas and Oklahoma. A New England trip is scheduled for early December.

The senator has frequently been on the road in recent weeks to speak in Illinois, Indiana, New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio. Last Monday night he addressed the Community Forum in Pittsburgh.

Wants U. S. to Stay Clean

Senator Taft's recent speeches have stressed the importance of staying clear of European entanglements and solving our own domestic problems. At the outset of the war, he was among the first to slap sharply back at the belief then held by some New Dealers, that America would have to enter the conflict.

In senate debate on the neutrality bill, he took a non-partisan stand for a cash and carry import policy more strict than laid down in the administration's bill, as the best means of avoiding involvement in the war. He favored repeal of the arms embargo which he said discriminated in favor of aggressor nations which have built up their armaments in time of peace.

Attacking the proposed transfer of American ships to Panama, Senator Taft denounced this plan as a means of evading the spirit of the Neutrality Act.

He has repeatedly warned of New Deal tendencies to use the war situation as an excuse to increase bureaucratic powers and government spending.

Declaring that domestic issues are even more important than when the war started, he recently offered a seven point program for action in such fields as relief, labor, taxes, and federal economy, where the administration has left many problems unsolved.

Before leaving for the west, the Ohio senator addressed the annual meeting of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce in Cleveland Thursday.

Kansas City First Stop

The first stop on the western circuit will be Kansas City on Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 20 and 21.

On Wednesday, he will be in Des Moines and on Thursday, Nov. 23, in Omaha. Two days will be spent in Denver where the Taft party will arrive on Friday, Nov. 24.

From Denver, Senator Taft will swing through the southwest with stops scheduled in Amarillo and Wichita Falls, Texas, on Nov. 26; Oklahoma City, Nov. 27; Tulsa, Nov. 28; Dallas on the 29th; and Houston on the 30th.

Senator Taft will return to his home in Cincinnati on Dec. 5, according to his present schedule, before leaving for New England.

In Cleveland on Dec. 16, the Senator will be at the City club to debate New Deal issues with Congressman T. V. Smith with whom he engaged in a series of radio debates early in the year.

Opportunities to buy to advantage are found daily in The News classified adv. columns.

TAFT PLANNING WESTERN TRIP

Expects to Leave Cleveland This Week On 3,000-Mile Tour

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17.—Starting a new trip through the west, Senator Robert A. Taft will leave Cleveland late this week on a circuit of more than 3,000 miles. With speaking engagements in the same rapid sequence which characterized his stumping tours through Ohio last year, Senator Taft went to the west coast during September and returned at the call of the special session of congress. On the second trip, he will go to Denver, where his earlier appearance was cancelled, and will swing through Texas and Oklahoma. A New England trip is scheduled for early December.

The senator has frequently been on the road in recent weeks to speak in Illinois, Indiana, New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio. Last Monday night he addressed the Community Forum in Pittsburgh. Wants U. S. to Stay Clean. Senator Taft's recent speeches have stressed the importance of staying clear of European entanglements and solving our own domestic problems. At the outset of the war, he was among the first to slap sharply back at the belief, then held by some New Dealers, that America would have to enter the conflict. In senate debate on the neutrality bill, he took a non-partisan stand for a cash and carry import policy more strict than laid down in the administration's bill, as the best means of avoiding involvement in the war. He favored repeal of the arms embargo which he said discriminated in favor of aggressor nations which have built up their armaments in time of peace. Attacking the proposed transfer of American ships to Panama, Senator Taft denounced this plan as a means of evading the spirit of the Neutrality Act.

He has repeatedly warned of New Deal tendencies to use the war situation as an excuse to increase bureaucratic powers and government spending. Declaring that domestic issues are even more important than when the war started, he recently offered a seven point program for action in such fields as relief, labor, taxes, and federal economy, where the administration has left many problems unsolved. Before leaving for the west, the Ohio senator addressed the annual meeting of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce in Cleveland Thursday.

Kansas City First Stop

The first stop on the western circuit will be Kansas City on Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 20 and 21.

"KNIGHT ERRANT"

by Jack McDonald

CHAPTER XIII

With an eighth of a mile yet to go Slim was certain there was time for Knight Errant to close the gap and catch the Vanderbilt filly.

But suddenly Draper dropped Knight Errant's head! A loose horse, the colt lost his stride and as they passed the eighth pole he was ducking and weaving.

He bumped first one colt and then another, like a careening billiard ball; pocket billiards quite likely, too, for Draper had him in all the pockets, out of one and into another.

Completely out of Draper's control the black colt swerved to the rail unsteadily.

Heather caught her breath, fearful that Draper was going to fall off. He managed to stay in the saddle but Knight Errant sidestepped the fence until the left side of his ebony coat was a camouflage of dusky black hide and rail white-wash.

Groggy and bewildered he staggered across the finish line seventeen lengths behind. Balking the winner!

Knight Errant had beaten one horse to the wire! Thirteenth in a fourteen horse field!

It had all happened with such dramatic swiftness that Heather stood confused.

Sprays of worthless mutual tickets on Knight Errant, flung in the air through the crowd looked like a confetti barrage in a Rose Bowl half-time stunt.

"Yeah, he's like Coronado all right," said a disgruntled two dollar bettor nearby. "He reminds me of Coronado in just one thing. He starts stopping right about where Coronado used to start running."

Heather heard, but she felt the gentle hand of Charles Howard on her shoulder.

"Don't mind, Miss Mills. They said those things about Seabiscuit when he was running his heart out up the stretch against Rosemont. Knight Errant is all right."

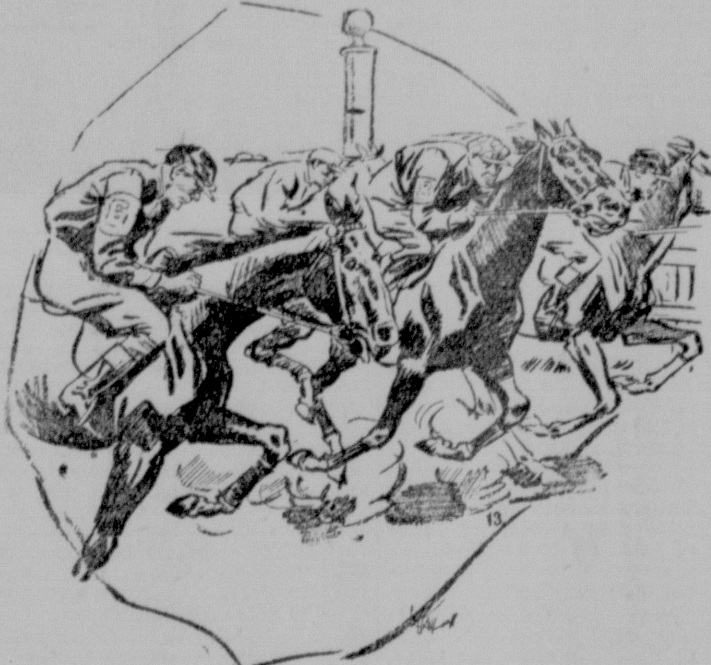

Poor Knight Errant. He wanted to run.

Only a few moments Heather had been wondering if Knight Errant, like Coronado, would know when he won. Now she saw the colt knew he had lost.

Back to the stands he shuffled with the travail of a Volga boatman, his ears drooping and his head bowed. He slunk along with a weary, funeral tread.

That apologetic moment after Knight Errant's defeat was seared into Heather's memory. She left the rail and pushed her way to the exit. The crowd now seemed a cruel blur. She was dimly conscious of the concerned face of Slim who was hoping to impart to her a comforting word but she only walked the faster.

Heather's emotional despair over Knight Errant's defeat ended with sleep on a tear-moistened pillow, but morning brought new hope. Her first awakening thought was of her colt. She ate a hurried breakfast, anxious to get out to Santa Anita to see Knight Errant. She also wanted to hear Charlie Bassitt's version of the race.

But new fear struck Heather when she arrived at the Bassitt stable to find Knight Errant gone from his stall.

Seemingly not the least bit concerned, Bassitt told her, between complacent puffs on his pipe, that the colt had been stall walking all last night.

"Stall walking!" Heather gasped, seized with concern.

She had known of her father's grave anxiety once when Coronado, dependent over one of his few defeats, became addicted to this strange nervous ailment.

"It's nothing," assured Bassitt. "I had Draper take him out for a gallop to run that fit of restlessness out of him."

Bassitt did not appear downcast over Knight Errant's losing race the day before.

He explained, only when Heather asked, that the colt was running all right until he got in front of the grandstand and then folded up. Bassitt said Knight Errant wasn't accustomed to the excitement and cheering of the crowd. It must have frightened him.

"I'll plug some cotton in his ears next time and cure him of that," he told her.

This sounded inhuman to Heather. And Bassitt continued to explain. "Besides, he'll run better after three starts, when he becomes eligible for spurs and the whip."

"Whip?" Heather gasped. "Coronado never needed a whip. I won't hear of one being used on Knight Errant."

Then Bassitt admitted he had over-matched Knight Errant. He was too green to beat those good ones at first asking. Heather's mind searched for the truth in Bassitt's varied assortment of excuses. Somehow they didn't seem to ring true to her. For the first time she found herself doubting him.

matching the colt against the Vanderbilt and Mars champions and putting a novice rider like Dimples Draper up.

These things he had done solely for the purpose of getting high odds on a colt which, off that lightning work a few days before, should have been a legitimate even money shot.

And he had thought, in spite of Draper's inexperience, Knight Errant was good enough to win.

What he had underestimated was the tremendous sentiment of the fans, swinging to Knight Errant off Coronado's breeding.

Bassitt had intended to make a lot of quick money with Knight Errant and his coup had been successful.

But the coup had exploded.... exploded right in his pocketbook. Now he was determined to get yesterday's money back, and plenty more, too. Bassitt was a good "waiter." One of the best on the turf.

He realized now that he must run Knight Errant "cold" in a series of losing races, to get the odds up.

It might take a little time for the fans to cool their ardor on the son of Coronado. But inevitably they would have to, so long as he had Draper around to ride to his instructions.

And when everyone else gave up on Knight Errant, that's when Bassitt would let him run.

This was his plan, and he grinned as he thought it over. Meanwhile it would cost him only the feed bill.

While Heather was despairing emotionally, Snapper was doing so to a like degree financially.

"I wonder what the little man with the mustache up in the Flood building in San Francisco will think of my tips now?" he told Slim the morning after the race.

"I told him Knight Errant was so hot the jockey was going to have to use a fireman's hat and carry a fire extinguisher in both hands while the race was on."

"The way Draper rode he must have carried all that and tied a hook and ladder wagon on Knight Errant, too," Slim answered glumly. "Something's been in your craw ever since that race, Slim, what is it?"

"I went for five hundred, isn't that enough?"

"It's something else, Slim. I saw you drop fourteen grand in one lump in Chicago and wake up next morning whistling.... Say! It isn't that little Red Riding Hood who owns the horse is it?"

"Keep her out of it!" Slim snapped, and, bored with Snapper's chatter, he walked down to the coffee shop alone, telling himself Snapper would never be anything but a race track hustler and wondering why he bothered with him at all.

Slim's thoughts went back a long way to his dad's fashionable racing stable of another day and he came to the realization he was getting no place on the turf fast with two old plugs like Cold Cream and Susie. Why had he tossed away that chance to train horses for Matt Biddle?

Did he still feel that way? Slim wondered. He asked himself why he was so concerned over a girl who had snubbed him....

No, his anxiety was for the horse, Knight Errant, not Heather Mills. There was, after all, something about that colt that sort of "took" with Slim.

How long would it take Heather to find Bassitt out? Not very long if he.... Slim.... could just get her to listen to him.
